Who is CAHSGA?

The CAH Support Group began in April 1985 in Melbourne.

This group paved the way for other CAH support networks to develop worldwide. Professor Garry Warne from the Royal Children's Hospital, Melbourne, played an important role in this group from the outset. His book, 'Your child with Congenital Adrenal Hyperplasia' has been a valuable resource for parents and families.

The CAH Support Group Australia was incorporated in 2001 with the aim of serving adults and children affected by CAH and their families; to be a nationally recognised body. We are run entirely by volunteers and rely on memberships and donations

Conference Details

The Congenital Adrenal Hyperplasia Support Group Australia Inc. is holding a Family Conference Day for families and those affected by CAH.

The purpose of the conference is to provide education and improve understanding of CAH in an informal environment. Our aim is to present you with helpful education and a question & answer time at the end of each session.

We are again including focus groups where you can hear from other people about the practical aspects of CAH. Often meeting other people can be as much of a highlight as the education. A practical hands-on injection session will also be held.

We also provide a good range of products and publications specifically focused on CAH.

This year the symposium will be held on Sunday September 9, 2012 at:

Sydney Children's Hospital

About CAHSGA Conferences

In 1978 the first family conference day was held in Melbourne to help parents gain information on CAH. This event was critical in a time when literature and education was scarce.

As these events developed over the years we realised there was a need to provide this type of education nationally. In 2002 we took these Symposiums around Australia and have held this event through Sydney, Brisbane, Perth, Melbourne & Adelaide. The conferences have been a much-needed resource for families and adults around Australia.

Conferences are a huge undertaking for volunteer organisations and due to circumstances beyond our control we have not held one for a few years. CAHSGA is hoping to hold conferences every few years.

Conferences provide a valuable opportunity to hear presentations from CAH specialists and participate in the question time at the end of each session. Questions asked are shared by everyone attending.

These conferences have created a connection within the CAH community across the country. Gaining education and understanding is such a powerful tool in raising our children with CAH and helping adults manage their condition. Conferences are a fantastic opportunity for specialists to understand families' needs and build relationships to improve treatment and research of CAH.
